A Rose for Emily

A Rose for Emily is a very complex and coherent short story. The story is set after Civil War in the southern town Jefferson, a town clinging to the Old South's values but adapting the eventual changes that the Reconstruction Era brings with it. Miss Emily Grierson is a symbol of the Old South, whose values were based on a sense of honor, duty, and a code of conduct. The story questions the nature of time and its effects on society, as well as the role of individual responsibility and collective guilt.

Children of Blood and Bone

The Chronology of William Faulkner's "A Rose for Emily"

The story begins in 1929, with the death of Miss Emily Grierson. The town of Jefferson is informed that Miss Emily has committed suicide, and the police arrive to investigate. The investigation reveals that Miss Emily had been living in isolation for many years, and that her family had been isolating her from society due to her mental illness. The story ends with the conclusion that Miss Emily's death was a result of her family's neglect and her own mental illness.

The Metamorphosis

The Metamorphosis is a novella by Franz Kafka, first published in 1915. It is considered a cornerstone of modernist literature and is one of Franz Kafka's most famous works. The story is set in Prague and deals with the transformation of Gregor Samsa, a young worker who wakes up one morning to find himself transformed into a giant bug. The story explores themes of alienation, isolation, and the struggle for identity.

The Importance of Being Earnest

The Importance of Being Earnest is a play by Oscar Wilde. It is a satirical comedy that lampoons the fads and customs of Victorian society. The play is set in the early 1890s and is a parody of the typical social dramas of the time. The play follows the misadventures of two engaged men, Algernon Moncrieff and Jack Worthing, as they try to maintain their reputations.

The Sun Also Rises

The Sun Also Rises is a novel by Ernest Hemingway. It is the story of a group of disillusioned American expatriates who travel to France after the First World War and become involved in the Lost Generation. The novel explores themes of disillusionment, alienation, and the struggle to find meaning in a post-war world.

The Great Gatsby

The Great Gatsby is a novel by F. Scott Fitzgerald. It is a work of American literature written in 1925. The story is set on Long Island, New York, and follows the life of Jay Gatsby, a wealthy man who is obsessed with winning back his former love, Daisy Buchanan. The novel explores themes of the American Dream, ambition, and the corrupting influence of wealth.

The Catcher in the Rye

The Catcher in the Rye is a novel by J.D. Salinger. It is a semi-autobiographical novel about a young boy named Holden Caulfield who is expelled from his prep school and spends a few days in New York City. The novel explores themes of alienation, isolation, and the search for identity.

Selected Short Stories of William Faulkner

Selected Short Stories of William Faulkner is a collection of short stories by William Faulkner. The stories in the collection include "A Rose for Emily," "As I Lay Dying," "The Sound and the Fury," and others. The stories are known for their complex and often dark themes, as well as their use of stream-of-consciousness and other experimental techniques.

Selected Short Stories of William Faulkner

Selected Short Stories of William Faulkner is a collection of short stories by William Faulkner. The stories in the collection include "A Rose for Emily," "As I Lay Dying," "The Sound and the Fury," and others. The stories are known for their complex and often dark themes, as well as their use of stream-of-consciousness and other experimental techniques.